

A pit in the flank of an avalanche above Hebgen Lake. The stripe in the picture delineates the new snow over the unstable, old, faceted snow. This interface is where avalanches are occurring. Karl Birkeland was using his 100 cm long Norwegian Battle Saw...a bit overkill. Photo: GNFAAC

Advisory Region

Lionhead Range

Longitude

-111.34W

Latitude

44.84N

Avalanche Details: Large whumps, Hebgen Lake

Lionhead Range, 2024-02-11