

Skiers in the Western Tobacco Roots saw widespread sluffing involving recent storm snow. The skiers triggered one small avalanche that broke 4-6" deep and 30' wide on a wind-loaded slope, D1. Photo: W. Hubbard

Out of Advisory Area

Longitude

-112.02W

Latitude

45.53N

Avalanche Details: Small Skier Triggered Avalanches in Tobacco Roots

Forecast link: GNFAC Avalanche Forecast for Mon Apr 22, 2024GNFAC Avalanche Forecast for Mon Apr 29, 2024

Out of Advisory Area, 2024-04-18